Was granted the job of a junior designer working for a small digital and print agency in Porlock, West Somerset. I became fully involved in every dynamic of the business from the outset, from designing and creating websites to preparing artwork for large print runs out of house.

My time at First Design & Print has developed and strengthened my technical ability across both print and web. Being part of a small design agency has meant that I have dealt directly with clients on a regular basis and as a result has allowed my confidence as a designer to blossom
